WHAT IF...

The ceiling didn't leak? Johnny's voice didn't change? Mr. Luther didn't keep it cool? Mr. Testa and Dr. Chesson still ran MHS? Everyone didn't have an iPhone? Ash never came here from Peru? We actually got to experience the new school? Kevin didn't understand technology? There was still Project Adventure? It didn't rain in the school? There wasn't a Pun Of The Day? Peggy wasn't on Dr. Phil? The world actually ended on December 21st? Clayton never made a bad joke? Nick and Mick didn't run MHS? Everyone had a miniature triceratops? Hanna wasn't always broken? Michael and Tito were actually in love with each other? Everyone didn't love Tim Wood? Everyone didn't know everyone? Our class wasn't the smallest in the school? Mrs. LeBlanc never got pregnant and Ms. Dowd never came to MHS? The internet didn't crash all the time?

Congratulations,
CLASS OF 2013

Maynard High School has always been my home away from home, as both a student and a teacher. It is bitter sweet to see the changes that are taking place. My fondest memories of the current school, despite what everyone says about the leaks and the age, are the friends made and the experiences that took place within the building. We are unique in our size but also unique in what our students take away, whether it be the many WAVM experiences, the music opportunities, the SWAMP or any Project Adventure activities. We have all been lucky to share this building with each other and in some cases both our parents and our children. The building has served us well.

-Brenda Sullivan

For three years in high school, my perspective of the world was based from my faux-wood desk and orange plastic chair in Ms. Lind's English class. Seven years later, the time-worn, gum-covered, and cracked orange chair still holds its spot in the front corner of room 209, but you won't find me sitting in the seat. My perspective has changed as I now stand in the front of the room, looking out over my own students and encouraging them to learn, question, think, and accept challenges.

-Ms. Bradley

On the first day of high school, I was nervous as anything. I had learned my locker was next to Nate, and I was hoping nothing too embarrassing would happen. I passed the guidance and hit the stairs, a group of seniors at the top. I made it up 9 of the 10 stairs, hit the top step, and completely tripped and fell, in front of at least 6 seniors. For the rest of my life, the one thing I'll always remember is first day freshman year, falling up-not down-the stairs!

-Emily Doucette

REMEMBERING MAYNARD HIGH SCHOOL 1964-2013

I remember sleeping on the floor of the library (when it was not carpeted) during a Beacon Santa Telethon.

-Mrs. Adams

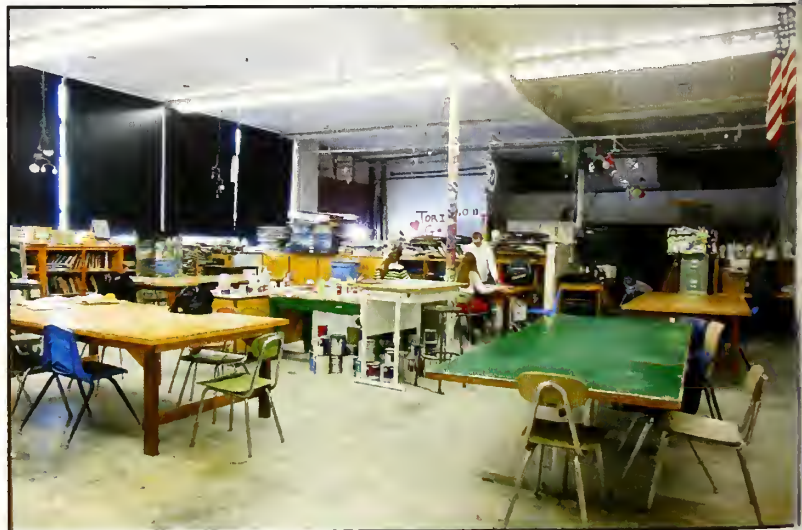

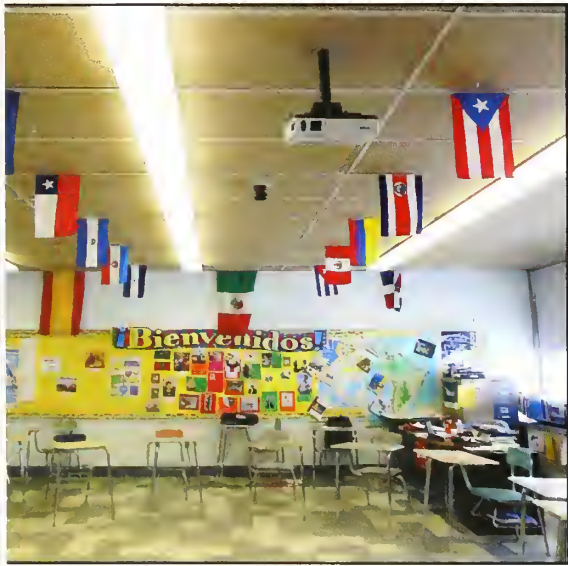

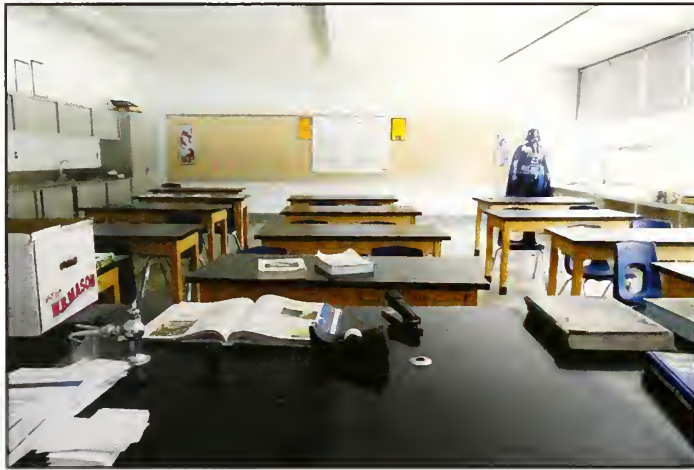

The last two years I have spent in the art room under Mr. Flynn's guidance has helped me become the most confident artist I can be.

-Vivian Dao

I treasure the moments I spent in the Connections Room. Whether it was hanging out with Bridget and Brianna or chatting with Ms. T. I will miss CJ, Isaac, seeing Mrs. Finnegan there, and all the other Best Buddies.

-Melanie Hunter

I remember when teachers could smoke in the teachers room and out in the courtyard. I remember the fire in the auditorium and cafe. I remember when the Art room in was in WAVM, then in the Home Ec. room, and finally in the Auto shop.

-Ms. Brennan

No high schooler likes getting to school at 7 in the morning, but sometimes it just has to be done. My involvement in Student Government has allowed me to watch so many other students use their leadership skills, from Monique to Neil to Allison and all of the other officers. Each has been a role model to me and I finally got my own chance. Even though it's still a struggle to get there in the morning, I've met some of the best people through those experiences.
