To the Citizens of Maynard:

The reports of the various departments under the control of the selectmen are hereby submitted:

HIGHWAYS AND SIDEWALKS

During the past year we have continued the policy of expending the appropriation under this department in permanent improvements, as far as possible, the application of tarvia on our principal streets we believe is the best means of holding the surface. During the past year, Walnut street from the bridge to Dartmouth street, which has been a source of great expense in past years on account of the numerous washouts, has been entirely rebuilt and is now in good condition and we believe that to keep this street in good repair can now be done at a very small expense for a number of years. During the year, Acton street from Summer has been rebuilt to a point beyond the George Brown place, gravel and oil being used the same as was used in the rebuilding of Waltham street, and which has given good results; the completing of this part of Acton street now gives the town a highway in first-class condition from the Sudbury line to the Acton line.

During the coming year we feel that part of Main street, from the corner of Nason to the Main street bridge, which is now in poor condition, should be rebuilt.

During the year we found that the bridges on Mill street were unsafe. These have been rebuilt and are now in good condition.

We have endeavored to carry out the wish of the town in regard to the appropriation for permanent sidewalks; during the year over 700 feet of curbing being built on Thompson street, which we found was badly in need of a good sidewalk. Curbing has also been put in on Main street as far as the schoolhouse and we feel that during the present year this sidewalk should be completed by concreting the same.

LIGHTING

During the year, the board by a vote of the town, has installed new lights in that part known as the new village; a few lights have also been put in where we thought them most needed.

POLICE

This department we believe has been excellently conducted during the past year. Owing to the good work and efficiency of our deputy chief of police and his officers, we have continued the system of the previous two years, where each license holder pays for a special officer, subject to the orders of the chief of police and believe it has worked well.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM CONNOLLY,

WILLIAM JONES,

RALPH WHITEHEAD.

The polls were declared open by the moderator at 7.10 a. m.

The town clerk requests information of any omissions or errors in the lists of births, deaths or marriages.

This office is prepared to furnish blanks for the proper return of births, and calls particular attention to the provisions of Chapter 280 of the Acts of 1912 requiring physicians and midwives to make a preliminary return of all births at which they were in charge, within forty-eight hours of the birth. The act further provides that a more complete return of each birth shall be made within fifteen days of the birth and that the physician or midwife shall also keep a record of the same. Physicians and midwives will please observe that they are entitled to the customary fee only for births properly reported under this act and that the town clerk cannot certify bills unless the returns have been filed at this office within the time allowed by law.

Owing to the large foreign population in our town it is particularly necessary that this law should be literally complied with here, and that physicians should exercise the greatest possible care in an endeavor to get the correct spelling of all names, and in writing them plainly.

In 1910 the town at the suggestion of the town clerk, voted to install a card system for indexing the vital statistics. This index has now been fully completed and all vital statistics of the town from the date of its incorporation to the present day are indexed in the most approved modern method, so that they are easily accessible to any person desirous of ascertaining any fact in relation thereto.

This work has been done at a cost of $125, this sum including the price paid for the cabinet and index cards, only about forty dollars being paid for the labor. If done by contract, the work alone could not have been done for less than three hundred dollars.

The original books containing the complete records of births, deaths and marriages are now nearly filled. Before purchasing new books, and as a further addition to the efficiency of the office and that it may keep pace with modern progress, the town clerk would suggest that some system, either loose leaf or otherwise, be installed whereby the records be made with typewriter rather than in long hand. This same recommendation applies as well to the records of town meetings.

Respectfully submitted,

ALFRED E. McCLEARY,

Town Clerk.

REPORT OF BOARD OF HEALTH

To the Citizens of Maynard:

The board of health respectfully submits its report for the year ending January 31, 1913.

Gentlemen: The board this year had some difficult problems to contend with. Among others we had a very bad epidemic of measles which called for careful attention on account of our mixed population, and also carelessness or negligence of those who did not report cases in their homes or failed to call a physician, whose duty it would be to report such cases to the board of health, and thereby lessening the number of cases to a considerable degree. No doubt some of the householders are not aware that they were liable to a heavy fine for not having reported each and every case to the board of health.

We know if all cases were reported as should be it could have been checked in a much shorter time and with much less expense to the town. For the benefit of those who are not acquainted with the law as defined, we here-with cause it to appear in this report:

Section 49. A householder who knows that a person in his family or house is sick of small pox, diphtheria, scarlet fever or any other infectious or contagious disease, declared by the state board of health to be dangerous to the public health, shall forthwith give notice thereof to the board of health of the city or town in which he dwells.

Whoever violates the provision of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars.

The board of health of a city or town may in its discretion disinfect or fumigate all such premises, as in the opinion of the board have been exposed to any infectious or contagious diseases.

Section 50 is the same as the foregoing and it applies wholly to physicians, and if he refuses or neglects to give such notice he shall forfeit not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars for each offence.

The case against your board of health brought by Michael Milloro and others where we were obliged to enforce quarantine, came at the East Cambridge court, and the plaintiffs lost their case, which caused considerable expense to the town, but we were successful in getting a portion of it back from two of the plaintiffs.

The citizens can readily see that each year the expense of this office in this and other towns is increasing, as you will see by the report the amount paid for the care of infectious and contagious diseases of people who have gained a residence here and who have not gained one anywhere else.

The sanitary condition of the town has greatly improved, and with the cooperation of the people could be made better.

REPORT OF THE FIRE ENGINEERS

Selectmen of Maynard. Gentlemen:

The annual report of the fire engineers is forwarded herewith.

During the year we have answered ten bell alarms and fourteen still alarms. Previous to Thanksgiving we had the least number of fires for several years but since that time we have had three of the worst fires the town ever had and has been very hard on the men and the hose. At the present time we are very short of good hose and we would recommend the purchase of 1,000 feet.

We have tried a new method for lessening the number of forest fires which has been a great success and materially reduced the fire loss. We stationed police officers at the dangerous places on Saturday afternoons and Sundays during the driest season.

We recommend the appropriation of $3,200.00 for maintenance and $600.00 for the purchase of hose. The following is the financial report:

REPORT OF TRUSTEES OF PUBLIC LIBRARYYear Ending January 31, 1913

The trustees desire to submit the following report:

A number of changes have taken place in the library during the past year, the most important probably being the installation of the system of open shelves. The appropriation of nine hundred dollars made last year, enabled the trustees not only to open the library, Wednesday afternoons, but to carry out several needed improvements. Under the supervision of Miss Zaidee Brown of the state library commission, the books have been classified and placed under the different divisions on the open shelves. The immediate work was done by Miss Lillian Kerr, an expert in such matters and the trustees feel that at the present time the library is as far advanced and as nearly up-to-date as is possible to make it in its present quarters. It has been the aim of the trustees to enlarge the scope of the library and in this particular the changes have been a marked success. Not only has the circulation increased materially, but the number of school children using the library has been so large that it has been deemed advisable to exclude all children under the eighth grade from the library after 5.30 o'clock, in order to give the older children and adults an opportunity to read and study in comparative quiet.

The trustees have been aided and advised by the state library commission in all matters pertaining to the welfare and success of the library and especially by Miss Brown, secretary of the commission. She has given much time and thought to the re-organization and to her efforts to a large extent is due our success.

Miss Vera Lawton resigned during the year as assistant librarian and the trustees were fortunate in securing the services of Miss Nellie May to fill the vacancy.

The work of our librarian, Mrs. Nyman, is worthy of the highest commendation, and she in conjunction with Miss May, has co-operated heartily with the trustees in their endeavors to improve the library.

A larger number of books have been purchased than in former years and a great many old books and pamphlets have been sold and otherwise disposed of to make room for more up-to-date literature.

The valuation of the town is now over $4,000,000, and it seems that in the near future something should be done to provide more suitable accommodations for the library.

We recommend an appropriation of $1,000 for the current year, as it is desired to open the library more evenings during the week.

Following is a statement of the number of books in the library, together with the financial standing:

Whole number of books, Feb. 1, 1912	5,231
Books sold and otherwise disposed of	229
	5002
New books purchased	195
Books purchased to replace old ones	59
Public documents	15
Number in library, Feb. 1, 1913	5,271
Circulation, 18,000 for past year.

ENGINEER'S REPORT

To the Superintendent:

Sir—The plant in general is in excellent condition. Only a few small repairs were needed on the pumps during the year. The low pressure heating coil in the pump room has been connected so that steam can be used directly from the boiler when necessary. This coil has been connected with No. 1 boiler in order to return the condensation to the boiler when using steam direct for heating.

The 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch water supply pipe was found to be filled with rust, so a new 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch pipe was put in to take its place.

The supplies on hand February 1, 1913, are: 44 tons coal, 13 pounds piston rod packing, 10 pounds square flax packing, 18 pounds sheet packing, 12 hand hole gaskets, 6 valve plates, 60 pump valve springs, 15 gauge glasses, 15 pounds cotton waste, 25 gallons cylinder oil, 4 gallons engine oil, 5 gallons boiler compound, 1-3 barrel grease, and 34 fire bricks.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

To the Board of Water Commissioners:

Gentlemen—My report as superintendent and registrar, together with the report of the engineer, for the year ending January 31, 1913, is herewith submitted:

WHITE POND

The pond was well filled last spring so that the water did not reach as low a level this year as it has each summer for some years past, and at the present time the water is well up over the intake pipe.

CONDUIT LINE

The sand which collects in the manhole of the conduit line has been cleaned out and no other work has been done on this line. The flow of water has been very good during the entire year.

MAINS

Two leaks have been repaired in the mains during the year. One on Prospect street, where a one and one-half inch union was broken, and one on River street, where the lead had started out of a four-inch joint.

The following extensions have been made:

Bates avenue	36 feet	4-inch pipe
Fairfield street	36 feet	4-inch pipe
Florida road	86 feet	1 $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch pipe
Beacon road	153 feet	1 $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch pipe 1 valve
New street off Concord St.,	390 feet	6-inch pipe 2 valves

SERVICES

Leaks have been repaired in sixteen services. Ten services have been cleaned out. Two have been renewed with larger pipe. Three have been lowered to prevent freezing.

Number of taps for new service	30
Number of taps reported last year	944
<hr/>
Number of taps now in use	974

METERS

Thirty additional meters have been set, two have been discontinued, making the number now in use 972. About 215 meters have been repaired. Owing to the very cold weather last winter a great many meters were frozen and had to be repaired.

In closing I wish to thank the commissioners for their hearty support during the year.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM NAYLOR, Superintendent.

CALENDAR

1912-'13

A slight change occurs in the calendar for the coming year in that the year is divided into four terms instead of three—one long term and three short terms.

The reason for this is that the breaking of the last half of the school year into three small groups is easier for the children since it gives three vacations instead of two.

High School—40 Weeks

Fall term begins Sept. 3, for 16 weeks. Closes Dec. 20, '12.

Winter term begins Dec. 30, for 8 weeks. Closes Feb. 21, '13.

Spring term begins Mar. 3, for 8 weeks. Closes April 25, '13.

Summer term begins May 5, for 8 weeks. Closes June 27, '13.

Elementary Schools—38 Weeks

Fall term begins Sept. 9, for 15 weeks. Closes Dec. 20, '12.

Winter term begins Dec. 30, for 8 weeks. Closes Feb. 21, '13.

REPORT OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE

To the Citizens of the Town of Maynard:

We, your representative school board, present the following report:

All the school property, with the exception of the applications of paint and kalsomine, is in excellent condition, and it is not apparent, at this time, that any larger outlay, in this respect will be required the coming year, than was made last.

The grounds about the Bancroft street school building should be graded and either seeded or turfed, but we have refrained from so doing not so much on account of the incompletely condition of the playgrounds in the rear of the building, as for the very unsatisfactory approach to the building from Walnut street.

Consequently we would recommend two appropriations by the town, one to further put the playgrounds in condition, when the grading from the building can be satisfactorily done, and the other for a suitable sidewalk and road way on Bancroft street. The acceptance of a street upon which a public building is located, would not seem amiss, in this connection.

Our teaching force has undergone the usual changes the past year, for, in the nature of things, it is inevitable that towns of greater wealth and with larger school appropriations should reach out and snatch from the poorer towns teachers of experience and qualifications, but we are to congratulate ourselves upon having a most efficient teaching combination, and one, which it is our hope will remain intact.

We have been obliged to increase our corps the past year, and the prospect for the future seems to indicate still further additions, and the consequent construction of two more rooms in the Main street building, as mentioned in Mr. Brick's report.

During the year these changes have occurred. Miss May Ledgard resigned to accept a position in the post office department; Miss Bernice Bateman was granted a leave of absence on account of illness; Miss Agnes Garvey was transferred to the position left vacant by the resignation of Miss Ledgard; Miss Irene Quinn of Swampscott was elected to fill the position left vacant by the transfer of Miss Garvey, and Miss Alice Goodnow of Wellesley was elected to Miss Bateman's room.

In the Bancroft street school Miss Elizabeth McLaughlin resigned in March to take a position in Belmont. At the close of the year Miss Mabel Sawyer resigned to take a position in Haverhill, and Miss Anita Walker was promoted from the eighth grade, to the position of Supervisor of the Domestic Science Department.

In this building a new grade was opened in September, to take care of the overflow in the primary department. These changes and vacancies necessitated the following: Miss Alice Perdu of Fitchburg was elected to the new first grade, Miss Elizabeth Coleman of Merrimacport, was elected to the position vacated by Miss Sawyer, and Miss Lucy Schwartz was transferred from the seventh grade of the Nason street school to the corresponding grade vacated by Miss McLaughlin in the Bancroft street school; and, at the beginning of the year the eighth grade was transferred from the latter building to Nason street, Miss Ellen Leonard of Northampton being engaged to take charge of the same.

Probably at no time in the history of the schools of Maynard have so many, and we might add, radical, changes been effected, in the curriculum, as during the past year. In fact these were so pronounced that upon their inception they were viewed as startling, even by the members of the school board who had been agitating a trial of the same for the last two or three years.

It required no small amount of courage to make tests of commercial, manual training, industrial and domestic science courses, in as much as the installation of any one of them, to say nothing of the aggregate of all, drew not a little upon our appropriation fund, but now, the experimental stage having been passed, we can rightfully boast of the results produced, and emphasize the fact that our schools are at the present time upon a more practical and common sense basis than ever before.

Interest among the pupils was never greater than at the present time, and the eagerness with which opportunities to acquire knowledge of practical subjects, was grasped, surpassed even our most sanguine expectations, while, at the same time, not conflicting with the regular routine of school work.

We now have a commercial course, comprising book-keeping, banking, typewriting and stenographic branches, which, under the proficient instruction of Mr. Kennedy, is unexcelled by any institution, outside of a regular business college.

Although a part of the high school, this course is entirely isolated from the same, as far as location is concerned, as we have made use of the assembly hall for that purpose.

The auditorium is equipped with movable seats and desks, blackboards have been put around the walls, and a small counter, with overhead grill work, for banking purposes, installed in one corner.

For the typewriting and stenographic branches, we have made use of the stage, which being shut off by a portable wooden partition, and equipped with electric lights, makes a most admirable room, for the purpose to which it is put.

The next added department, considered of the most importance, is that of domestic science, which under the instruction of Miss Walker, attracts nearly all the feminine portion of the high school, as well as those of the upper grades.

This department we have placed in a here-to-fore unused part of the basement, and it is thoroughly equipped with coal and gas ranges, running water, sinks, a long table or working bench, with individual gas plates, lockers or cupboards, and the necessary cooking utensils.

It is our expectation that great results will accrue from this course, especially to those young girls, whose parents have not the time or inclination to teach them the rudiments of cooking at home.

The industrial, or to be more concise, the sewing course, is also under the guidance of Miss Walker, and although not as far advanced as the two first named courses, shows its benefits in the dresses and hats made and exhibited by the members of the class.

This course is conducted in one of the recitation rooms adjoining the assembly hall, and is equipped with one sewing machine, cutting tables, and other needed articles unknown to man.

The course in manual training, which embraces only carpentry work, at the present time, like the industrial course, is only in its infancy but, if the interest taken in, and the results so far obtained, by the masculine portion of the school, is a criterion, those participating in this course, under the instruction and observation of Mr. Hilmerty, will, at its completion, be well prepared to accomplish all the ordinary carpenter can do.

The adoption of the above courses are the principal changes in which the average tax payer should be interested, and the benefits will be very noticeable in the selection of other occupations than mill work, by the graduates.

The establishment of these courses, and the usual bills for repairs—including plumbing, painting and carpentry work—fuel, advanced salaries, supplies and incidentals, has made our outlay this year greater rather than smaller than our estimate a year ago, consequently, although we have our schools and equipment nearly established to our satisfaction, we would ask for an appropriation, for the coming year, the sum of $30,000.00.

Notwithstanding efficient teachers, excellent buildings and good equipment, no institution of learning can be a success without a strong hand to guide and direct, and the town of Maynard is to be congratulated in having such a one, in the person of Mr. Brick, and as stated previously, could our superintendent give Maynard his whole time rather than a part, as he now does, the efficiency of, and good results obtained from our schools, would be greatly enhanced.

To the School Committee, Maynard Mass. :

Gentlemen—I herewith submit the annual report of the public schools for the year ending February 1, 1913.

As the report goes to press, we are in the midst of many experimental changes, which if successful will modify the education and change the product of our public schools in the future. The commercial course in the high school with its fifty adherents is in the midst of its first year. The domestic science department which was begun in the high school in September, has just extended its work down through the elementary schools to the fifth grade.

The measuring and standardizing in scholastic work which has been going on since September, has taken on increased impetus with the issuing of the state course of study. These, together with usual progressive activities that attend a growing school system, mark the year as an unusually active one.

STANDARDIZING SCHOOL WORK

When education can measure its output and check up its products it will come unto its own, and not before. Time was, when education was learning and culture therefrom was somewhat ethereal, and the fear of the dollar mark upon it made it more or less exclusive. All that is passing.

The demand of the day is that any organization, school or shop, shall be judged by its definite product, and not by what it claims for itself.

Two years ago the great problem of retardation was made the issue. Last year, that of waste was the dominant note. This year we present as the problem that of definitely measuring or standardizing the work of the schools, with a view to increasing the quantity and quality of the results in a definite grade. But retardation, waste, and standardization are but phases of one great problem. We quote the following from a journal of high educational standing:

"The financial cost of retardation to the schools—to say nothing of other evils—reaches serious annual proportions. In twenty-nine cities recently investigated, the annual money cost to the taxpayers of the mal-adjustment of the course of study and systems of promotion to the capabilities of the children amount to about $45,543, or an increase of eleven percent in the school expense. Added to this, among the 206,495 studied, is the time-loss of 6.5 years by slow pupils to every year gained by rapid pupils. Such facts are demanding the sober consideration of the men who are spending millions of dollars of the people's money annually. One-tenth of it is waste. Elimination of waste effects a saving; but saving often means decreased cost of production with depreciation of product. Here, on the contrary, elimination of waste means saving, and a saving by decreased cost but with an improved product.

"To say that one-third of the school population is behind grade is merely stating the fact in its baldest form. Such a statement does not touch the causes. It still remains to discover just what the causes are. That they are almost infinite in number and infinitesimally obscure, goes without saying. A late start to school, irregular attendance, illness, adenoids, malnutrition, defective audition and vision, badly adjusted curricula, poor teaching—all these factors and many more may be causes of retardation.

"In general, all the causes may be reduced to two classes: those within the child himself, and those outside the child in his environment. In the latter case the problem is sociological or pedagogical; in the former it is psychological or physiological. Among those retarded on account of physiological or psychological defects, there are again two classes. One is made up of pupils whose physical defects can be removed and who can be restored to normal grades. The other class is composed of those who are mentally deficient, and who can never be made normal by any amount of medication or special pedagogy. The discrimination between these two classes is of the utmost importance to the school administrators and the children alike. Upon it depends the efficiency of all organizations for advancing the retarded population of the schools. By it the training appropriate to each child is determined. Someone in the school system must possess the ability to distinguish between these two classes. Otherwise much energy will be wasted in attempting to teach unteachable things to uneducable children."

TWO DIVISION PLAN OF THE GRADES

The two division plan of the grades put into operation last year is now a part of the system. This plan calls for two distinct divisions in each grade; A and B, from the fourth to the eighth grade inclusive, and three distinct divisions in all grades below the fourth. The work is so graded as to make a half-year's work between each division. By this plan it is possible for a quick pupil to cover the work of the grades in eight years or less, without in any way hindering the progress of the slower pupil.

Last year a class of twelve was passed directly from the eighth grade to the high school, skipping the ninth grade. The reports from this class indicate that they are doing the work of the high school quite as readily as those who formerly passed through the ninth grade. This is as it should be. In a locality like ours there must necessarily be those who are able, through good surroundings and constant attendance, to accomplish the work of the elementary grades in shorter time than those handicapped by environment, illness, and non-attendance.

At the same time this latter class should have every opportunity to advance as fast as possible without hindrance to the quicker pupil.

As I said in my report of last year, a majority of the pupils ought to cover the work of the elementary schools in eight years and many should be able to cover the work in seven years, while a third class would require the full nine years for reasons already mentioned. Each class should be allowed to advance as rapidly as possible without hindrance to the others.

THE OLD PROBLEM AGAIN—MORE ROOM

The presentation of the two division plan and its outcome, brings to the surface once more the old problem of more room and the necessity of meeting its demands in the near future. Here are some of the conditions as they exist at present:

1. Every available space is now occupied.

2. The high school has been condensed into smaller apartments, although it has expanded its work to embrace a business and a domestic science course.

3. The eighth grade today (February 1st) has a membership of fifty-three. This is in itself appalling, and the more so when it embraces two distinct classes.

A teacher of an eighth grade of fifty-three pupils preparing to enter the high school has a Herculean task. The most she can do is keep them in motion. The amount of real teaching and developing that can be done under such circumstances is comparatively small. There should be two teachers for this grade instead of one. This means a separate room, which we have not. Last year the eighth grade which we housed in the Bancroft street school, began with fifty pupils. By January 1st, its membership had fallen to forty and later to thirty-five. Of this number twelve were enabled to jump the ninth grade and passed directly to the high school. It will be very difficult to do this this year for the reason of numbers. For the first time in the history of the school the eighth grade is holding its membership. This means that for the lack of proper facilities for dividing the grade (room and teacher) an advancing class may be sacrificed; that is, no class may jump the ninth grade this year.

4. To one who studies the school system at all, the rising tide of membership must be readily discernable. This year we opened a new first grade. This makes five first grades. It is only a question of a year or so when an additional first grade will be called for at Main street school (enrolment this year is forty-seven).

The second, third, fourth and fifth grades have each three rooms in each building.

It is but a question of time when an additional second grade will be called for (enrolment this year is over forty-eight in each room). From that time on the tide will rise rapidly each year.

5. Last year we had two sixth grades, approximating a membership of ninety-six in both grades. This year it has been necessary to carry along two grades and a half—that is, to carry along an additional half sixth grade combined with a lower grade. This means that next year a new sixth grade will be necessary; for there will be upwards of one hundred and ten pupils in this grade next September.

The problem in the near future, therefore, is more room, but the immediate problem next year is two rooms, one for the additional sixth and one for the additional eighth.

Fortunately the solution is within reach and can be solved by building a two-room wing on the Main street school. This would convert all the buildings into eight-room buildings and enable us ultimately to have all grades in each building.

In order, however, to properly divide the children a bridge should be built across the river above the Main street school to join Summer Hill road. This would unite upper Summer street with lower Main street and make an equal division of the children easier.

DISCUSSION OF THE DEPARTMENTS

Your attention is called to the reports of the various departments in this report, viz: high school proper, music, drawing, commercial and domestic science.

The introduction of the two additional departments into the high school has made the machinery of that school somewhat complex and difficult from an executive standpoint, with the limited corps of instructors; and while the situation is largely experimental at the present time, indications point to a very decided curtailment in the choice of electives next year.

COMMERCIAL

While the work of the commercial course is on the same basis as the other accredited courses and receives its proportional credits, the domestic science course is additional and voluntary and receives no credits this year.

The reason of this is that the domestic science is largely an experiment and as yet has not been thoroughly worked out. All work of this department taken by the high school pupils, therefore, is taken as extra work.

The tendency to rush into new work which is always prominent when the new and untried is introduced into the school curriculum, has made it difficult to plan for classes that will not conflict, and has resulted this year in a multiplicity of recitations. The problem for the near future therefore, is the alignment of equivalent courses in the various departments with equal credit value.

The commercial course is already on such a footing and is an assured success under the skillful management of Mr. Kennedy. One remedy is needed, viz: to check the tendency of pupils to "load up" with too many studies.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE

The domestic science course which includes cooking and sewing, reaches down into the elementary schools, cooking to the sixth and sewing to the fifth grades. Three hours a week for each grade is allowed and as far as possible is taken in the afternoon from 3 to 5.30 o'clock. It will be readily seen, however, that this cannot be done in all classes and an additional time is allowed to be taken from the regular school time, not to exceed one-half a day a week for each class. For a better understanding of the situation I submit below the weekly schedule of the domestic science department which is now in operation.

Although the domestic science department is still in its experimental stage there is every evidence that the course is a much needed one. Miss Walker's skillful and efficient management has already placed the course beyond the "fad" stage, and there is now needed only a well defined course, with proper credits to place it on equal footing with the other courses.

INDUSTRIAL WORK FOR THE BOYS

With the introduction of domestic science into the grades, which is practically for the girls only, a new question has arisen, viz: What shall we do for the boys?

To meet this question a temporary industrial course has been laid out, which includes the following: Basketry for the fifth grade; cane seating for the sixth; whittling for the seventh, and carpentry for the eighth. The work of the fifth and sixth grades is already in operation and is taken under the direction of the regular teacher during the domestic science period and is supervised by Miss Dolan.

The work of the seventh grade will not be put into operation at present. For the work of the eighth grade—carpentry—Mr. Hilmerty of the Nason street school has volunteered his services to instruct the boys of this grade during the domestic science period. Inasmuch as Mr. Hilmerty's regular work has been materially increased since the opening of the new courses, his offer is appreciated as a spirit of helpfulness toward solving a very difficult problem.

MUSIC

During this year, Miss Gentner's time was increased to two days a week. Last year Miss Gentner was engaged and received pay for one day a week, but gave an additional half-day to the work.

The opening of the new grades made even this time inadequate to cover the work. Increasing the time to the former standard of two days has raised the efficiency of this department to as high a standard as has ever been reached. Even with this work Miss Gentner is giving extra time in instructing the high school orchestra "after hours."

DRAWING

The same spirit which manifests itself in other departments is in evidence in the drawing. Miss Dolan, although engaged for two days a week, is voluntarily supervising the industrial work for the boys, to which reference has been made. It is by her suggestion that the industrial work has been made possible.

It will be seen from the foregoing that your supervisors are exerting unusual effort to make their departments effective and that their spirit of helpfulness is not limited by their salary or time for which they were engaged. All are taking on extra labor whenever such is needed.

TEACHERS AND TEACHERS' SALARIES

Two problems that confront the superintendent with growing seriousness each year are:

1. To get all the children to school.
2. To get good teachers for all the schools.

To find good teachers is becoming more and more difficult each year. All of them are already employed and the modern superintendent finds himself compelled to make good teachers instead of finding them. With this in view your superintendent has worked steadily to improve the teaching efficiency of the force by regular grade meetings where plans are discussed and laid out, and by teaching lessons in the school room. In this respect I cannot commend the spirit of the teachers too highly. During the past year most of them have responded splendidly to the call for improvement of the work. Plans are more definite, waste in effort and methods has been checked and all are putting in extra time after school to aid backward pupils and bring them up to the work of the grade. As a result they have increased their efficiency as teachers.

And yet we are unable to hold a great many each year. Inroads are made upon our force by other localities who discover the efficiency of our corps, by offering inducements with which we are unable to compete.

Two suggestions are offered by your superintendent to counteract this tendency. First, raise the minimum of grade teachers from $475 to $500 and the maximum to $600. Second, establish a merit standard above this which may be offered to the specially skilled teacher, in case she is induced to go elsewhere.

The cost of board and room is practically $5.50 per week, not including laundry and incidental expenses. This means that nearly one-half of the year's salary is paid by the teacher for maintenance during her first year with us.

AWARDS FOR PERFECT ATTENDANCE

Two years ago a plan was inaugurated whereby pupils whose attendance was perfect would be awarded publicly an "Attendance diploma." A small number received this diploma at the end of the first year. Last June, however, nearly sixty pupils were awarded this honor at the public graduation. The complete list is given below:

OUTSIDE INTEREST

Home Gardens—The interest of the children in home gardens has been attended with unusual success. Upward of three hundred gardens have been cultivated during the past summer.

Last April your committee voted $10 to be awarded as prize money for successful gardens and a committee from the Woman's Club volunteered inspection. This committee consisted of Mrs. Charlotte Stockbridge, chairman, and the Misses Gertrude Deane and Ethel Butterworth.

The value of this committee cannot be estimated and the arduous labor of inspection through the heat of July and August is appreciated. This inspection increased the interest of the children in this phase of their education. The committee inspected and in September awarded the following prizes: Flower gardens—first prize, Lillian Archer; second prize, Haino Paakki; third prize, Toivo Kalliendur; fourth prize, Rosie Falcuci. Vegetable gardens—first prize, William Edwards; second prize, Leslie Carr; third prize, Jennie Grecco; fourth prize, John D noghue.

The superintendent desires to make grateful acknowledgement for the continued interest in the high and elementary schools as shown by the prize contests in the high school and prizes for best work in the home garden.

Two prizes for the two best essays in the high school consisting of membership tickets to the Maynard Woman's Club for one year were awarded to Miss Mary Hodges and Miss May Parkin by a committee.

Grateful acknowledgement is also made to Mr. Dahl for the free service to the department in the examination of the children's eyes in certain critical cases.

SAVINGS BANK SYSTEM

Of all the so-called outside interests of the children, none emphasizes the labor of love to such an extent as that of the Saving Bank System. It calls for exact accounts on the part of the teacher. At the same time she is asked to develop the habit of thrift through talks, stories, illustrations, etc. As often as once a term she devotes from one to three hours to figuring out and balancing accounts which oftentimes owing to hurried deposits show a shortage.

The Saving System, however, is regarded as one of the most valuable of our outside interests. It had its inception eight years ago under my immediate predecessor, Mr. Mackin, and exists today as one of the monuments of his work for the children.

The following statistics, based upon a year and a half may be of interest. These statistics cover a period extending from September, 1911, to December, 1912, one year, four months.

Total value of stamps purchased by the children, $448.52
Number of different children buying stamps	243
Number of children who have opened Saving
Bank accounts as a result of the Stamp

PLAYGROUNDS

Through the efforts of the park commissioner, the large field at the rear of the Bancroft Street school has been ploughed and leveled and promises to be of great value to the children in that part of the town. The field needs to be further improved by seeding down and by a cinder walk built diagonally across the park connecting the two streets. In this connection the Bancroft school ground immediately joining the school should be regraded and the street and sidewalk leading from Parker street to the school should be cindered. In rainy weather the street leading to the school is almost impassable because of the mud. With four hundred children passing twice a day over this road an enormous amount of mud is tracked into the building, producing a condition which no amount of sweeping can remedy. It keeps the building in a constant unsanitary condition.

THE SCHOOL AND LIBRARY

This report would be incomplete if it did not acknowledge with profound gratitude the work the library has done for the schools during the past year. Two years ago your superintendent suggested a few ways in which the library could be of increased value to the public schools. Since then the work of improving the library has gone on with constantly increasing value until today the work of the library for the children and the schools has been increased four fold.

The material has been classified and placed within easy access of the pupils, and reference work has become a pleasure rather than an arduous undertaking. It has become a place of study and recreation for the children, and withal a very material help in the work of the schools.

The department is glad to make acknowledgement to the trustees, the librarian, the assistant librarian and to all others who have made these things possible.

So far as the working material of the library is concerned, the town, today, has reason to feel gratified, but we need a new abiding place and one that will be in keeping with the efforts of those in charge.

EYE AND EAR TEST

The eye and ear test taken in December, 1912, resulted as follows:

Total number of pupils examined	967
Number found with defective eyesight	98
Number found with defective hearing	15
Number of parents notified	106
Number specially examined by Mr. Dahl	10

SPECIAL REPAIRS

In planning for the work of next year a number of repairs, left unaccomplished from the year just passed, should be planned for. Among these is the painting of the Nason Street school outside and inside. During a recent visit of the state inspector a very severe criticism was made upon the gloomy aspect of the interior of this building. The building needs a thorough renovation from hall to cellar.

The new domestic science kitchen needs a floor, an extra gas table equipment to provide for the increasing classes, plant for hot water and the completion of the carpenter work begun this year. Two more sewing machines will be needed next year for the sewing classes.

The roof of this building still leaks, although considerable work has been done in this direction this year. A thorough overhauling is needed as it is useless to tint the walls of the high school room. A violent storm always leaks through leaving bad stains and disfiguring the walls.

The Main Street school building also needs the roof overhauled for the same reason.

The electric lighting on the upper floor of Bancroft is still incomplete and should be completed without delay.

Grateful acknowledgement is made to the school committee for their loyalty and support, to the heads of departments for their helpfulness and suggestions, and to the teaching force for their unselfish devotion to the children. This has been a successful year and we are moving on.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANCIS S. BRICK,

Superintendent.

REPORT OF THE MUSIC SUPERVISOR

To the Superintendent of Schools, Maynard, Mass.

I herewith submit my second annual report on music in the public schools of Maynard.

We had the advantage, this year, of starting work in music at the beginning of the school year and for that reason are a little in advance of the work being done last year at this time.

However, there is much to be accomplished yet. In the lower grades better sight-reading; in the higher grades a more thorough knowledge of keys and time motions; and in all grades we must work for more musical tones, careful phrasing and enunciation.

Although music, in a sense, is a recreation, music teaching, in all its phases is not a recreation, for it requires concentrated effort on the part of both teacher and pupil to acquire good results, just as in other studies.

The children are given breathing exercises before the music period, that deep breathing may become a habit, which of course is beneficial to the health, and in singing, pure tone is especially dependent on good breath support.

It is impossible for either grade teacher or supervisor to give very much time to individual work in large grades, but we teach as many in the principles of music and furnish as much practice in sight reading as is possible in the short time allowed for music on the crowded schedule.

In the first, second and third grades about two rote-songs a month are taught the children, beside much board work. In first and second grades reading simple intervals from the staff.

At the beginning of the third year the Sight Singing Melodies are placed in the hands of the children for sight reading.

The books used in the other grades are the same as last year with the exception of seventh grades, where we are using the New Normal Third Reader.

From the third grade up some time is devoted to written work such as scale writing; placing Do in different key signatures; placing bars for different time signatures; naming intermediate tones, and placing sharps and flats in key signatures.

The eighth grade is doing especially well, singing four-part selections from New Educational Fifth Reader.

The high school is taking hold of the chorus work with good spirit and the orchestra, which practices every Thursday afternoon is a great addition to the high school music.

The work in music is made very pleasant by the ready cooperation of all the teachers and the support of the superintendent and committee, for which I wish to extend my hearty thanks.

Respectfully submitted,
ALICE M. GENTHNER,
Supervisor of Music.

REPORT OF DRAWING SUPERVISOR

Mr. F. S. Brick, Superintendent of Schools:

There is little to report at this time concerning the work in my charge. We are following practically the same course as last year, the only change being more rule drill and constructive work in the lower grades and more perspective drawing in the upper grades. In the high school perspective drawing has been made the subject for the year's work in the ninth grade, and in the junior class the free hand division in receiving a course in applied design, stenciling, leather work and elementary metal work being offered. This last is an experiment and one that will probably not be continued.

Of the high school it is pleasant to report that a greater seriousness has been manifested in the work of this year than heretofore.

The teachers and pupils continue to show the interest and conscientiousness that have been characteristic from the first and make it a pleasure to supervise drawing in the Maynard schools.

Respectfully submitted,
MAUD I. DOLAN,
Supervisor of Drawing.

REPORT OF THE COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

Maynard, Mass., February 1, 1913.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I have the pleasure of submitting herewith, the first annual report of the commercial department of the Maynard high school.

We have now completed the first term of the school year, and while this has given us scarcely time to get the work well started, I believe the organization of the course and the development of our plans are being carried out as rapidly as is consistent with substantial progress. If the work as already covered may be used as a fair basis to forecast results, we should have every hope of ultimate success.

Nearly fifty percent of this year's enrollment took up the commercial work and with the exception of four or five, who for various reasons were obliged to discontinue, all are very enthusiastic. The students seem to be very much alive to the opportunities afforded them by the course and in nearly every case, work with untiring efforts toward the results which they can see in the very near future. The interest aroused and sustained in the work is very remarkable, in view of the fact that the course is an extremely thorough and exacting one.

The main object that I constantly kept in mind when planning this course was to arrange something that would produce work and results that would enable our graduates to fill positions in business life as bookkeepers and secretaries and finally as business men and women, in a highly creditable and satisfactory manner. The work has been divided into two parts so that something definite may be accomplished in each step. In this way a student may complete book-keeping and typewriting in the first two years, while those who do the work of the third and fourth years will have the added advantage of being competent amanuensis as well as proficient accountants. The plan has been made to cover certain regular high school subjects so as to include a good general education as well as a thorough commercial training. This, together with the fact that the commercial requirements are of the highest standard, allows us to offer a course that is not only equal to, but in many ways superior to the courses offered by the best private commercial schools.

The work of the department is conducted on a strictly business basis. Eleven years of actual business life and teaching experience permits me to do this in such a manner as to bring to it that real, live, throbbing business atmosphere that infuses the student with enthusiasm and removes the embarrassment so troublesome to the beginner on entering office work. Everything must be done in a practical and systematic way. Definite results must be accomplished. "Learning to do by doing" and by doing I mean not useless, purposeless drill in copy books, performing "supposed" transactions, or recording imaginary accounts, but it is my intention to inaugurate several plans that will furnish real material for practice in the subjects taught. Practice, not for the sake of repetition, but for immediate value in obtaining some desired results. One of the plans that has already been adopted and is now being put into successful operation is the system installed for the handling of the school finances. All the accounting of the school department, from the making of the payment vouchers to the final financial statement showing the use made of every penny of the appropriation is now being done by the students. This not only furnishes excellent material for practice, but puts in the hands of the pupil a real, live, business proposition, and what is without doubt the best of all, places on him a real and direct responsibility which develops him. Another enterprise which I hope to start soon is the management of the School Savings Bank. This will afford unlimited opportunities for our study of accounts and finance.

I trust the creditable handling of the school accounts will convince other officers of the town that the affairs of their departments may also be conducted in this economical and systematic way and that we may soon take over the work of their offices.

We have had, since the beginning of the winter term, an excellent business practice department, fully equipped with banking facilities and some of the office appliances. At the beginning of the daily business practice period the plans of the day are outlined and instructions given for their execution. The previous day's funds are to be deposited and a certain number of purchases and sales to be made and recorded. The market report showing the fluctuation of the market is on the board. The signal to begin business is given and the scene that follows is like that on the floor of the stock exchange. It is an interesting sight to see the students gather around the market report and follow the quotations as they are on the board. The student does everything exactly as he would in real business but handle the commodities he deals in. He writes his own checks, notes and drafts, discounts the paper he receives and finally makes the proper entry in a complete set of books.

Commercial Department—Typewriting

The typewriting department too is alive with enthusiasm. All the work is done absolutely by the touch method. A beautiful solid gold medal is offered to the student who at the end of the year does the most rapid, accurate work. All may compete for this and as this is the first year the school has had a commercial course, all are starting the work.

Much more might be said of the things we have done and the plans we hope to carry out, but the better way for those interested in our work to really appreciate what we are doing is to come in and get into the atmosphere and personally feel the enthusiasm we are bringing out.

In closing I desire to express my hearty appreciation of the constant support given by the school committee, the ever present encouragement of the superintendent and the untiring and earnest assistance of the principal.

Respectfully submitted,
GEORGE A. KENNEDY,

REPORT OF THE DOMESTIC SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Mr. F. S. Brick, Superintendent of Schools:

The household science work in the Maynard schools has become a separate department this year. In September a room in the basement of the Nason street school was equipped with a coal range, a gas range, six small gas burners for individual work, and cooking table with cupboard accommodations for necessary cooking utensils. Next year, by adding another cooking table with cooking utensils, a hardwood floor and side walls and the facilities for serving lunches, the cooking department will have an equipment adequate to its needs.

This year the school has not furnished the materials for either the cooking or sewing and I acknowledge gratefully the interest the parents have taken in supplying the children. An effort has been made to avoid unnecessary expense for the parents and to teach the pupils the value of economy and the use of inexpensive materials. It is comparatively easy to cook an appetizing and nourishing meal when the cost of eggs and the various food stuffs does not have to be considered, but as with most people the expense is an important factor. It should influence the planning of a course in cooking,

A study of the homework reports, kept in connection with the department, shows that the greater part of our children help with the cooking and work at home. To give these little home-workers an understanding of the best methods of doing their work, to teach them the basic principles of cooking and to show them how to cook inexpensive, nourishing dishes, is the fundamental purpose of the course. "Work without knowledge is drudgery," said a wise man. So a knowledge of foods and food values and the processes and changes that take place in the cooking of food has a place in the course. When a class is eager to get through with the class room work in time to get home and "make some for supper," and when the homework slips show that the dishes cooked at school are made often at home, we believe that we are justified in making the course practical to meet the needs of these particular children rather than holding to a stereotyped and orthodox form.

The course is briefly outlined as follows:

Preserving of fruits and vegetables—Principles underlying, tests, various methods, food value, study of bacteria and moulds.

Table vegetables—Composition, food value, digestability.

Cereals—Nature of starch, comparison of cost.

Milk—Forms in which milk is marketed, necessity for cleanliness, care of milk, composition and food value.

Bread—Study of yeast, study of baking powder, making of quick breads, making of raised bread, comparison with baker's bread as to cost and food value.

Domestic Science—Sewing

Meats—Consideration of market price and net price of different cuts, use of inexpensive cuts, use of left over meat, use of fats, as cooking material, for making soap.

Cakes and cookies—Main principles and general proportions emphasized.

Eggs—Composition and principles of cooking, use of eggs considering fluctuating cost and food value.

Lessons on—The house and its furnishings, fresh air and sunlight in the home, planning the day's work, waste—in time, in effort, in materials, in money, through failing to make a dollar buy a dollar's worth and through buying what is not necessary or advisable, heating and lighting the house, plumbing, methods of cleaning, household pests—particularly flies as disease carriers, drinking water and ice.

Bulletins published by the government on all these subjects are used mainly as reference. These bulletins, obtained free of charge upon request to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., contain valuable information in regard to foods and the best methods of cookery. I should like to take this opportunity to urge that more housewives avail themselves of the information in these booklets. This department will gladly aid anyone in obtaining information on any subject related to Household Science.

The homework reports are a valuable feature of the department, enabling the teacher to keep in touch with the needs of the pupils and to watch the direct results of the work done in the school. On these slips, the pupils make a record of the cooking, sewing and housework done at home during the week.

Note books are kept, containing recipes, cost of materials and suggestions given by the teacher.

The sewing classes are doing interesting work. The advanced classes have made their own cooking aprons and are now making dresses. In the first year classes some simple article, usually a bag, is made for the purpose of teaching the six stitches, thus interest in the article being made is maintained—a distinct advantage over the old sampler method. After this, articles will be made using these stitches as review work and teaching the more advanced principles of sewing.

Believing that each class period is valuable, no time, so far, has been given to "popularize" the course. We shall be glad, however, to have the parents and those interested visit us and see the pupils at work. We shall appreciate this evidence of their interest and be glad of the added significance that the work will have for the pupils.

Respectfully submitted,

ANITA B. WALKER.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF THE HIGH SCHOOL

Mr. F. S. Brick, Superintendent of Maynard Schools:

ENROLLMENT

The enrollment of the Maynard high school stands at present as follows: Ninth grade 23, freshmen 35, sophomores 11, juniors 15, seniors 11; total 95. Of this number 41 are boys and 54 are girls.

The average ages in the above classes are, respectively, Ninth grade, 14 years, 4 months; freshmen, 15 years, $\frac{1}{2}$ month; sophomores, 16 years, 1 month; juniors, 16 years, 10 months; seniors, 18 years, 4 months.

DROP IN MEMBERSHIP

Since September 1st, 1911, the drop in membership from all causes, including graduation, has been exactly divided between boys and girls. But of this drop, the ninth grades of last year and the first half of this year have contributed 42 percent and the remainder of the school 58 percent only. This fact emphasizes the truth that the members of the lower classes demand our most earnest care in promoting their welfare and in increasing their sense of the values of school life. The courses in cooking, sewing and concrete geometry represent our effort to meet this question.

COURSES

There are three types of pupils in the high school, if we classify them according to their choice of studies—the group preparing for work in some higher institution; the group who will make use of their commercial preparation in later office work, and the undecided group, who may enter any one of a great variety of life activities. We enroll 42 who hope to realize the first aim and 40 who are taking commercial work. There is a small number in addition of those who are without definite plans. We are clearly confronted with the following problems: To maintain a clear road for those who are depending on their choice of studies for entrance to other institutions; to provide a strong commercial course; to give other studies which shall be attractive to those whose desires are not matured and who must be cared for until that period comes; and in seeming contradiction to this to limit the freedom of election to certain very definite groups of studies. There has been this year a certain amount of overlapping in the courses because of this lack of definiteness and also because of the novelty of the new courses and the lack of perspective on the pupil's part by which he might judge. But while this uncertainty may exist in many pupils in the earlier years, it is very certain that the school program can solve the problems mentioned only by a much greater degree of rigidity in demanding that permanent choices be made at the beginning of the course. However, college entrance requirements make this decidedly necessary. Unwise decisions in this matter must increase the time of preparation by one or more years.

THE COLLEGE GROUP

Students preparing for other institutions require varying amounts of the following studies—three years each of English, Mathematics and Science; four years of Latin and Modern Language; and two years of History.

The school still holds the right to enter a pupil by certificate to the institutions which give this privilege, if he has completed with good rank their selection of the specified studies. No part of the list can thus be sacrificed, as entrance requirements now stand, without the probability of working hardship to some pupil. But this implies small classes in some instances. The question of an efficient and economical schedule is thus a serious one in a small high school. The wide spread movement to make entrance requirements more generous to the pupil will, if consummated, make it possible in the future, for us to eliminate some of these small classes.

COMMERCIAL GROUP

The commercial students number 40. Their progress and needs are discussed in Mr. Kennedy's report.

GENERAL GROUP

Those pupils whose aims are less definitely crystallized have an opportunity to choose physiology, elementary science and domestic science, in additions to selections from the other groups. English is required each year from all pupils, and is the only study thus specified.

POINTS OF INTEREST IN THE VARIOUS STUDIES

The German classes are conducting an interesting correspondence with students in German schools. The plan involves an interchange of letters, each of which is written half in the native and half in the foreign language. This gives practical training in the use of the language, and affords interesting side lights on the school and social life of the young people of that part of Europe. We hope to extend this custom to include French correspondence also. Beside this, there is use of foreign newspapers and pamphlets.

CONCRETE GEOMETRY

The ninth grade class in concrete geometry has taken a series of problems which have involved drawing to scale from actual measurement. The objective points gained in this work are neatness, accuracy in measurement, drawing to scale and knowledge of certain geometrical and mechanical facts.

ENGLISH

In the English classes a weekly exercise in elocution takes the place of the former declamation and debates. Selections from masterpieces are learned and delivered before the class with criticism on the vital points of delivery.

AFTERNOON WORK

The enlargement of the program makes inevitable afternoon work. Much of the typewriting and the concrete geometry are thus placed, and in addition there is special work in the drawing department, assistance to those who desire it and to delinquents. The afternoon session begins at 3 o'clock and from that time till 5 o'clock from twenty to forty pupils are present from various causes. The school plant has thus a much larger use than heretofore.

NEEDS

Among the existing needs in our equipment is a modern stereopticon with its necessary fittings, including an attachment plug in the large study room. The old apparatus which we have is very imperfect and at best can only show lantern slides, which are expensive to purchase. A modern instrument would cost no more to operate and would show both lantern slides and pictures from books, or photographs. Such a device would be of immediate and very definite value to every class in school, besides furnishing the basis for a great variety of addresses by local and other talent. An apparatus such as the piece describes would cost approximately $250.00.

VISITORS

The lack of visitors is a matter of serious import. Parents cannot know from children's lips or by second-hand reports, the things with which they should be familiar. Parents ought to know the teachers from personal contact. To expect the teacher to visit the homes of one hundred children is to make a demand beyond the power of the busy teacher to meet. Children and teachers would be mutually stimulated by parental visits to the school. The realization that the bond of interest which culminates in the child's welfare is shared alike by parent and teacher, should lead the parent to regard the teacher as one of the child's best friend, to commend her efforts and help her in every way that may be possible. Too often parents manifest their only interest in the passing mark which the report card shows, or fails to show.

To stimulate a habit of visitation, February 5, was advertised as a visiting day for parents. No special program was prepared beyond the ordinary work. About forty-five people came and demonstrated their interest in the various departments, of which the commercial, domestic science and manual work received the major share, because of their novelty. It is to be hoped that this event was the beginning of a new era in this regard.

GRADUATES ENTERING HIGHER INSTITUTIONS

Of the graduating class of 1912, Raymond Hamlin entered Dartmouth; Florence Trainor, Ethel Howard and Vera Lawton, the Framingham Hospital Training School, and Mary Sweeney and Mary Parmenter, Business College. The graduating program is appended. I recommend the continuance of the same type of program for the coming graduation.

Respectfully submitted,
J. D. W. CHESTER.

MEDICAL INSPECTOR'S REPORT

When one considers the numerous nationalities, confined within the boundaries of our town, to say nothing of the diversified modes of living, of the races embraced by our population, the question naturally arises, "Why is Maynard, with no system of sewerage, so particularly free from all epidemics?"

The solution of this query can be put in two words, "the schools," for it is in these institutions that the radical changes, from a decade ago, have been formed, and, to a certain degree, perfected.

The teaching of self preservation is as much a part of the curriculum of our public schools as are grammar, reading, arithmetic and other studies, and, whereas, ten or fifteen years ago, no thought was given to a pupil's physical condition, the latter now takes precedence over every thing else.

Naturally, with the influx of so many inhabitants from foreign shores, the consequent overcrowding of certain sections of our cities and towns, to say nothing of the "packed in like sardines" condition of the places of abode, some arrangement must be worked out for the prevention against outbreaks of this or that disease, and now nearly every state has adopted a system, in its public schools, with that end in view.

It is true that local boards of health must, and do perform a very creditable part in this work, but their labors are confined, for the most part, to adults, to whom, in communities, like our own, the English language, or the interpretation of the same, is unknown, and in whom fixed habits have been formed, consequently it remains for the schools to bear the brunt of this work, or in other words: "It is easier to bend the twig than the branch."

One of the requisites necessary for admission to our public school, is that every pupil shall have been vaccinated, or present a certificate, signed by some physician, that such a vaccination is not permissible, and this rule is strictly adhered to, and a system of filing all certificates, for future reference, has been adopted.

Children are closely watched, and whenever suspected of any ailment, no matter how slight, are carefully scrutinized and examined, and notices sent to the parents or guardians informing them of the existing conditions, and it is to the credit of nearly all, receiving such notices, that they not only have accepted the same in the same spirit with which they were sent, but have expressed a willingness to help out and further the end in view.

Not only are diseases looked after, but the general appearance of the pupils, as well, is considered, and instances are not few, in which children have been sent home, with suggestions to those in charge, that a liberal application of soap and water, would alleviate this or that pronounced disease.

The condition of the eyes as well as that of the ears, is carefully watched, and periodical tests in vision and hearing have resulted, after notification has been sent home, in a decided betterment of these maladies.

Pupils are taught what fresh air is, and the benefits to be derived from having and breathing the same in close and stuffy quarters, rather than the foul atmosphere which is usually prevalent in places of abode.

I recall not a few instances, in the rounds of my practice, of hearing a child say to its mother, "Do this or that, for the teacher says if you do not, we will all be sick." Thus through the young we are educating the old, and it is for this reason, I make the assertion that our schools are the remedial agents against the prevalence of disease.

The usual hindrances to health, are to be found, no more among the pupils of Maynard, than among those of other places, but I would be neglecting my duty, were I not to make mention of the prevalence of adenoids, which are the most important factors in the backwardness and seeming stupidity of this or that child.

These abnormal growths, in the back of the nasal passages, are to be found, to a greater or lesser degree, in the majority of the younger pupils, of the present day, and have their inception for various reasons, but a removal of the same, by a small operation, results in a most surprising change, for the better, both physically and mentally.

A comparison of the statistics of the Maynard board of health, with other boards, shows conclusively that we are better off, as far as physical welfare is concerned, than the majority of places, and I would again reiterate, that the credit for this state of affairs, belongs, in no small measure, to our schools.

Respectfully submitted,

DANIEL GOODNOW.
