United Way fund drive begins

Two win first prize

Rather than choose between two excellent entries, judges awarded two first prizes in Digital's nationwide United Way poster contest. The winning designs, "Brilliant Deduction" by Suesan Laquerre and "A Brighter Day for Those who Share the United Way" by Ron Gazzaniga, will soon appear on posters and T-shirts to publicize Digital's 1980 United Way campaign.

Suesan, secretary to the product line manager for Computer Supplies in the Accessories and Supplies Group in Nashua, N.H., won the New Hampshire, Digital United Way poster contest with the same design last year.

Poster contest winner Ron Gazzaniga works as a production control analyst in the Personnel Systems Data Center in PK1.

Ron is a production control analyst in the Personnel Systems Data Center in PK1. Each winner will receive a $50 Series EE savings bond.

"Suesan's poster shows that payroll deduction is a good way to make United Way contributions. Ron's design describes what the United Way is about," explains Donna Spencer, corporate United Way chairperson. "Both are so good we intend to submit them to United Way of America as Digital's suggestions for a national poster for next year's campaign."

Run for Fun -- Sept. 16

Many Digital facilities will hold Fun Runs to publicize the United Way campaign. Maynard has scheduled its run for Sept. 16 (rain date Sept. 19) at PK3. All Digital employees, not just those in Maynard, are welcome to participate.

The rules have been changed a bit from last year to help encourage employees to pledge contributions. There will be no prizes for simply running.

If you want to participate, you should get fellow employees to promise to pledge a specified amount to the United Way for each lap that you run. (One lap around PK3 equals .535 miles.) All participants must have pledges, and each participant with five or more pledges will receive a T-shirt with a winning design from this year's poster contest.

After the run, the run administrator will contact people who have pledged, telling them how much they owe the United Way because of their sponsorship of Digital's Fun Run. You, the runner, will not collect the pledges. Therefore, you must submit your

Printed Circuit Development Center opens

To keep pace with advancing technology and to meet the needs of the company's circuit designers, Digital has opened its first facility dedicated to process development for printed circuit boards. It is a small operation--four environmentally controlled rooms, tucked away in the basement of ML3, near the board shop and the model shop. But it represents "a down payment on a major endeavor," says Alvin Sorokin, manager of advanced technology printed circuit boards.

Previously, development work was fit in with regular production work. But the higher density and sensitivity of today's semiconductor devices

"We stand behind our products" --that's the message in a new Digital advertising campaign. To start off this campaign, hundreds, even thousands of volunteers are needed on Sept. 3 at 4 p.m. to do exactly that -- stand behind a VAX computer system on the lawn in front of PK-3 to pose for a two-page ad that will appear in Business Week and Dun's Review.

"We are telling our customers that, at Digital, we have 14,000 people in Customer Services supporting our products," explains Jack Shields, vice president, Customer Services. "We are saying people are important in this company; that customers can feel confident about our products and our service because of our people. So we

(such as those made at our new Hudson plant) require higher density and tighter tolerances in the circuit boards on which they are mounted. To produce state-of-the-art circuit boards in high volume with high yields requires tighter environmental controls than in the past—just how tight the controls should be is one of the questions the new development center is meant to answer.

"The new manufacturing plant being built in Greenville, S.C., will produce the type of boards being developed here," explains Dave Widder, manager of module development with the Advanced Manufacturing Technology Group. "Their equipment and modifications will be specified based on what we learn here. This is the proving ground for process and equipment and the training ground for manufacturing managers."

"We are evaluating new tools to see if they are appropriate for volume production," says Gowri Sankar, consulting engineer with the project. "We are testing to find out what factors have the greatest impact on yield, exactly where special care is needed and what you have to do to modify work procedures, equipment and process controls to get better yield."

Today the typical circuit board in production at Digital has 12 mil (12/1000 inch) wide lines and spaces and one line between the pads on which the contacts of semiconductor devices mount. The environmental controls at this development facility make it possible to produce boards with 5 mil (5/1000 inch) lines and spaces and with two lines between pads on each signal layer—doubling or even tripling the amount of circuitry that can be fit onto a board. According to Widder, "We intend to work on three lines between pads and on multi-signal-layer boards. We have already made an 11 layer board here with four signal layers." The facility is also equipped to experiment with high temperature, high reliability materials, such as polyimide.

This operation is known as "Phase I." According to Bruce Short, manager of Phase II, the next step will be a shop about five times the size of this one—including a process development lab, a prototype shop and a new process startup line to check out advanced techniques before introducing them to production. Andover is mentioned as a possible location.

WBZ challenges Digital pilots

Boston radio station WBZ-AM has challenged Digital's helicopter pilots to a softball game to benefit the Sudbury Council on Aging, a drop-in center for the elderly. Weather permitting, the game will be played at 8 p.m., Thursday, Aug. 28, at Featherland Park in Sudbury.

The challenge is a spinoff of the helicopter traffic reporting network that has Digital pilots feeding traffic information directly to Joe Green in the WBZ helicopter. The expanded traffic coverage was a natural extension of Digital's business travel, which has nine helicopters flying over many of the suburban routes feeding into Boston.

Everyone is welcome to attend this less-than-serious match that will pit the WBZ radio "all stars" against Digital pilots and support personnel. The evening will start off with the fly-in arrival of Joe Green in his "Green Machine." Nick Lombardi, Police Chief of Sudbury will serve as honorary umpire. During the game, representatives of the Sudbury Council on Aging will pass the hat for contributions to help support that local charity.

Sign up for courses at Worcester Polytech

Worcester Polytechnic Institute again will offer graduate courses in electrical engineering and computer science at the Acton-Boxboro Regional Jr. High School. Fall semester courses include: CS 502 Advanced Systems Programming (Mondays), CS 506 Information Storage and Retrieval (Thursdays) and EE 576C Advanced Topics in Computer Architecture (Thursdays).

Registration for the fall semester will be held at the Parker Street cafeteria 10 a.m. - noon and in the Mill cafeteria 1:30 - 3:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 27. Courses start Monday, Sept. 8. Tuition is $135 per credit hour or $405 per 3 credit course. The audit rate is one-half the credit rate.

To obtain an evening catalog, with course descriptions and degree requirements, contact College Programs, DTN 223-2530.

Horseshoes anyone?

Ron Gazziniga and John Coppinger wait their turn as Chris Hill pitches horseshoes. All three work in the Personnel Systems Data Center in PK1. Lauran Dunbar from the Employee Activities Committee watches.

Looking for a lunch-hour sport? Have you seen the three new horseshoe courts beside PK1?

You can pick up a pair of shoes at the PK1 security guards' office in exchange for your badge. A typical game takes about 10 minutes. When the courts are in heavy demand, the losing team has to give up the court to the team that is waiting. (Note-- by the rules of the game, women get to toss from three feet closer than men).

Tournaments will be scheduled in September and October, says John

Coppinger, a communications analyst in the Personnel Systems Data Center. He initiated the horse shoe idea and convinced Employee Activities to fund it. For further information, contact him at DTN 223-8363.

Outing date change for Bedford and Hanscom

Bedford and Hanscom will have their outing at Canobie Lake Park on Saturday, Sept. 20, instead of Sunday, Sept. 28.

Health insurance -- time to reassess your choices

It's the annual enrollment time for health insurance and Health Maintenance Organizations (HMOs) -- Sept. 5-19. If you wish to switch from John Hancock medical coverage to health care through an HMO or from an HMO to Hancock, you must do so no later than Sept. 19. You only need to take action if you wish to change your present medical coverage.

This enrollment does not affect your life insurance, dental coverage, long term disability or short term disability benefits.

An HMO is an organization of medical professionals who offer total health care for a prepaid monthly fee. With your John Hancock coverage, you select your doctor or hospital, and the insurance company pays all or part of the fees for most services.

In contrast, an HMO provides the health care itself or makes arrangements with specified doctors, hospitals and other medical providers. The HMO member agrees to receive health care from the professionals and hospitals associated with the HMO.

HMOs stress preventive health care, screening for high blood pressure and other health problems, performing routine preventive procedures such as physical exams and providing well baby care -- services that are not always covered by ordinary medical insurance.

The HMOs for the New England area are -- Harvard Community Health Plan in Boston, Matthew Thornton Health Plan in Nashua, N.H., Rhode Island Group Health Association in Providence and Fallon Community Health Plan in Worcester.

Hockey already?

You may be sweltering now, but, believe it or not, just next month Digital's hockey season starts. Now is the time to sign up.

The league will consist of eight teams from eastern Mass. and southern N.H. and will play its games at the Nashoba Valley Olympia in Acton/Boxboro on Sunday mornings between 8 a.m. and 1 p.m. Any employee 18 or older can join.

The annual membership fee of $12 covers the period Sept. 1, 1980 - Aug. 31, 1981. In addition, members pay dues of $12 per month during the active season (Sept. - April).

To join, fill out the accompanying form and send it in along with your $12 membership fee. For additional information, contact your Employee Activities coordinator.

Give blood this week

Roll up your sleeve and participate in the Red Cross Blood drive. Collection is scheduled at the Mill for Sept. 2 from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. and Sept. 3 from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m., and at Parker Street for Sept. 4 from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m.

For an appointment at the Mill, call DTN 223-6700, and at Parker Street call DTN 223-6766.

Matthew Thornton has an additional facility in Merrimack, N.H., and Harvard recently opened a new facility in Wellesley, Mass. Also, Digital has added an HMO in southern Connecticut: Community Health Care Center Plan (CHCP) in New Haven.

Employees living in areas serviced by HMOs will soon receive information in the mail indicating the locations and costs of the HMOs and what to do to make a change. Employees who do not live in the official service area of an HMO but are interested in joining should contact the HMO for details on restrictions.

For further information, contact your local personnel department or the HMO in your area.

All Digital employees are welcome -- and needed -- Wednesday, Sept. 3 (rain date Sept. 4) on the lawn between PK3 and Parker Street. The event should last less than an hour. Everyone who participates will receive a souvenir copy of the ad when it is printed.

allocates its funds by a review process in which volunteers, who represent a cross-section of the community, review and evaluate each agency's performance. In 1980 they have distributed $17 million that was raised in last year's campaign. About a quarter of that went to agencies that provide social services for families, individuals and children. Another quarter went to community organizations and special services such as Red Cross, the Urban League, Combined

Jewish Philanthropies, Jobs for Youth and Greater Boston Legal Services. About 18% went to youth development agencies, such as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, YMCAs, YWCAs and Boys' Clubs. Neighborhood centers and independent camps received 14%, and health, rehabilitation, visiting nurse and home care agencies received another 14%. Of each dollar contributed, 87% goes to these agencies, and 13% is spent on administrative and fund-raising costs.

What is the United Way?

Each fall Digital facilities throughout the U.S. stage a variety of events to encourage donations to the United Way, a nonprofit fund-raising organization. In the Boston area, United Way of Massachusetts Bay supports 167 human care agencies that deliver health, counselling, family, child care and youth services to more than 650,000 people.

Last year Digital employees pledged $515,670. The company matched that donation, bringing Digital's total nationwide contribution to over $1 million. That money went to Massachusetts Bay and over 130 other local United Way organizations.

This year's campaign will run Sept. 15 - Oct. 17. Digital facilities will be competing with one another for the honor of having the highest percentage of employee participation. Last year Woburn received the plaque for highest participation for a plant with over 500 employees and Salem General Manufacturing for a plant with under 500 employees. Those plaques will be passed along to this year's winners.

Nimrods dominate softball "fun league"

Softball at Digital comes in a variety of flavors. The Northboro/Westboro League classifies itself as a "fun league" -- with 164 employees, men and women, just out to enjoy the activity of sports -- win or lose. But this season one team made a habit of winning. The Nimrods of NR1 finished the regular season with a perfect 10-0 record and a team batting average of better than .500.

The Raiders, from Printing and Circulation Services, who had a so-so 5-5 regular season, made it to the finals of the playoffs and gave the Nimrods a battle there. They won the second game 13-12 on a bases loaded sacrifice fly by Guy Sargent in the bottom of the seventh inning. But the Nimrods took the other two games, 7-0 and 9-2 for the championship.

Dave Bendidetto (summer help) was the Nimrods' batting star in the playoffs with 8 hits in 10 at bats, including 4 home runs. In the pitching department, during the season Gary Partridge had two shutouts and Verne Murray had one. On defense, Darlene Hoover sparked at second base. Overall, the Nimrods had a 14-1 record for the entire season including the playoffs.

Regular season standings

1. Nimrods (NR1)	10-0
2. Print Shop	8-2
3. Hot Rods (NR1)	5-5
4. Raiders (P&CS)	5-5
5. Stingers (SDC)	4-6
6. Astros (SDC)	3-7
7. WZ-1	3-7
8. WZ-2	2-8
